Barton Academy Notes.

As the week of October 2-9, by state and national proclamation, was designated as Fire Prevention week, the juniors based their assembly program on this subject. These exercises were held during the last period Friday instead of at the usual time. After a selection on the Victrola, Ray Kimball, president of the junior class, made some introductory remarks. A reading, "The Fire Demon's Boast," by Geraldine Sargent, followed. Then the juniors presented a mock trial entitled, "The People vs. Fire," in which Frederick Baldwin represented the judge, Ray Kimball and Gerald Chadbourne the opposing attorneys; Dora Tripp, the clerk and Floyd Willey, the court officer. Different pupils represented the following fire hazards, kerosene, electricity, matches, cigarettes, lightning, gas, bonfires, all of which were tried but not convicted. Then the arch criminal, Carelessness, was brought to the bar. As foreman of the jury, Ralph May brought in the verdict that Carelessness alone was guilty of causing the majority of fires. The jury was composed of members of the senior high school. F. W. Cutting, a former insurance agent, gave some interesting and instructive facts on the topic, "Fire Prevention." His address was well received. In closing, the school sang "America."

The juniors have recently purchased new class rings which they will take pride in wearing.

At a meeting of the 10th year class the following officers were elected for the year: President, Earl Smith; vice president, Ruth Gilpin; secretary, Arlene Browne; treasurer, Lawrence Drew.

Mary Atanasoff visited the 6th grade and told them of her stay in Bulgaria.

Miss Mary Wheeler and Mrs. Fay Carpenter were visitors in grades three and five this week.

Schools closed Wednesday night so that the teachers may attend the state convention at St. Johnsbury.

The eighth year held a class meeting, Tuesday, October 10th, in the assembly room. The object of the meeting was to elect officers. The elected officers are as follows: President, Kenneth Stevens; vice president, Basil Zabarsky; secretary, Howard Cook; treasurer, Alden Utton; reporter, Thelma Burnham; executive committee, Grace Proctor, Dale Carpenter, Clarence Bement.

GOODE FOR JAY PEAK DAY

Famous Boston Chamber of Commerce Speaker Will Be Present.

The program for Jay Peak day promises great things. Every one is getting behind the project with enthusiasm. The Barton Development Association is sending out notices to its membership and to many besides, and the Newport Chamber of Commerce is sending out 200 invitations to its membership and to others. Still other organizations are getting behind the project and Secretary Taylor of the Green Mountain club says Denny Goode of Boston, secretary of the convention bureau of that organization, will come all the way from Boston to be present and speak. Frank Howe of Bennington will also be present to speak as well as President Cooper and Secretary Taylor of the Green Mountain Club. The plan is for a big gathering at the foot of the peak near the site of the old Mountain house where fires will be kindled for roasting frankfurts and bacon and cooking coffee, and where lunch will be eaten and the program held. Any who desire to do so may climb the peak.

The notice sent out by the Barton and Newport organizations says to be sure and reserve the day, fill your car, start early, take your lunch and have a good time. If the day is rainy call it Saturday and if Saturday is had call it Sunday and reserve for this fall. Drive via North Troy or Westfield and Jay.

HANDSOMEST HOTEL MAN

Rowen, Former Hotel Barton Owner, Counted Among Foremost in State.

The Green Mountain Beacon, a temporary paper, published by the hotel men of the state, says of J. V. Rowen: "Vermont's handsomest hotel man is Mr. John V. Rowen, manager of the Hotel Barre in Barre. Nor does he belie the poet's definition of that qualification, for of him it can be truthfully said that 'handsome is that handsome does.' Mr. Rowen is one of the most progressive members of the Hotel Association and rightfully a member of the executive committee.

No attention was given the warning and after five weeks of school with no attendance of his three children Albert, John and Ruby all under school age the father was brought into court.

Mr. Rowen is unable to work, being a paralytic sufferer and he claimed that the children did not have clothes to wear. On investigation it was learned that all the children had one good outfit for church purposes.

The case was laid open on the promise that the children would be sent to school and Mr. Rowen was placed under $50 bail.

Henry Botot, and Edward Freehart pleaded guilty of intoxication and paid fines of $5 and costs each.

M. LaBounty pleaded guilty to operating an automobile on the public highway while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and was fined $50 and costs and must spend five days in the local jail. The three men were all from Lowell and had been across the line on a joy ride and were brought to Newport jail Saturday night by Deputy Sheriff E. H. Crosby of Derby Line.

MUNICIPAL COURT

V. J. Bouvier Charged with Keeping His Children from School.

Judge W. M. Wright made an early visit to Newport Monday to clean up matters to come before Municipal court before County court opened at 2 o'clock.

Vitas J. Bouvier a farmer in the town of Derby was brought into court by Deputy Sheriff C. O. Ladd charged with not sending his children to school. It appeared that school authorities had experienced trouble with Mr. Bouvier on previous occasion and prior to the opening of the fall term, Sheriff Ladd notified the parents what would be expected.

No attention was given the warning and after five weeks of school with no attendance of his three children Albert, John and Ruby all under school age the father was brought into court.

Mr. Bouvier is unable to work, being a paralytic sufferer and he claimed that the children did not have clothes to wear. On investigation it was learned that all the children had one good outfit for church purposes.
